

LILLIAN IS FREE.

Miss Russell's Marriage Annulled in Fifteen Minutes.

Given the Custody of Her Child and the Right to Marry Again.

Solomon Had a Wife Living When He Married the Stranger.

Miss Lillian Russell, the well-known comic opera singer, was granted an annulment of her marriage to Edward Solomon by Judge McAdam, in the Superior Court, this morning.

The case was disposed of quietly and quickly. Even in Chicago or South Dakota, where the severing of matrimonial ties is a matter of minutes, it could not have progressed more rapidly, for in just fifteen minutes after the hearing of the case was begun Miss Russell was free, with the right to resume her maiden name. She was also granted the custody of her child.

It was just five minutes to 10 o'clock when Miss Russell entered the Court House, accompanied by her attorney, A. H. Hummel, and Robert B. Storrs, the only other witness, besides herself, who was to appear in the case.

The trio ascended at once to the courtroom and had hardly seated themselves when Judge McAdam entered and court was opened.

Miss Russell wore a nation-colored dress trimmed with black satin, and a long black canopy, with a collar and high standing collar. Her hair was black and white, trimmed with black and white feathers. Her blonde hair, which has always been considered the chief feature of her beauty, was done up in a Grecian knot, which was held in place by a large jeweled clasp. She wore a large diamond and turquoise brooch.

As soon as court was opened Mr. Hummel arose and read Miss Russell's affidavit, in which she stated that she had been married to Solomon in May, 1888, in Hoboken, and lived with him at 21 Gramercy Park until May, 1888, when he discovered that he had a legal wife living in England at the time he married her.

She left him at once, and had not since lived with him. She had one child by him.

Mr. Hummel stated that Solomon, who was supposed to be in London, had been served by publication with a notice of the suit.

The first witness examined was Robert B. Storrs, a military-looking individual, with gray hair and mustache. He testified that in 1887 he was a correspondent for a military newspaper in London, and that Edward Solomon had been arrested in that city on a charge of bigamy, made by Jane Evans, a concert-hall singer known on the stage as Lily Gray.

Mr. Storrs testified that Solomon was discharged, as the Court held that, if he had violated the law, it had been in England, and was therefore out of the jurisdiction of that court.

Miss Russell was then examined, and only other witness.

Mr. Hummel examined her in the smiling and affable way which he has with his fair clients. Her testimony was simply a reiteration of what she had said in her affidavit. She left the witness stand and seated herself beside her counsel, and while they held a whispered conference Judge McAdam granted the decree annulling the marriage, giving her the right to resume her maiden name, and the custody of her child.

Also the custody of the child as already stated.

Miss Russell smiled. Mr. Hummel smiled. Mr. Storrs smiled. The witness stood up and bowed to Judge McAdam and they left the courtroom together.

Miss Lillian Russell's first husband was Harry Graham. She eloped to Europe with him in 1887. Solomon obtained a divorce from the actress and five days afterwards she married Solomon in Hoboken.

At the time of his marriage Solomon had a legal wife living, as appeared in the evidence today.

After Miss Russell left him in 1888, Solomon returned to Europe and married Kate Everleigh.

It is said that Miss Everleigh also intends bringing an action for annulment of marriage.

Rumors have recently been started that Miss Russell intended marrying again as soon as she legally could.

Miss Russell denied these reports.

CAME ON PRIVATE BUSINESS.

E. C. Benedict Talks of the President's Flying Trip.

Very Cheerful and in Most Excellent Health.

Solomon Had a Wife Living When He Married the Stranger.

One of the callers on President Cleveland yesterday afternoon at the Victoria Hotel was his intimate friend, E. C. Benedict, the banker.

An evening reporter saw Mr. Benedict this morning at his office in Broad street, and in reply to an inquiry as to the real object of Mr. Cleveland's mysterious and unexpected visit to this city, the banker said:

"Really, there seems to be a great deal of talk being made over a very little matter. To tell the truth, I do not know exactly for what purpose the President came here, except that it was a matter of an entirely private nature."

"I didn't even ask him about it. I do know this positively, however, that his visit had nothing whatever to do with his health. He was never looking or feeling better in his life, judging from what I saw of him in a house, and yesterday afternoon and in a walk up town with him."

"Whatever the business was which called him here it was certainly not of a disagreeable nature, for he seemed to be particularly well pleased about something, and during the whole time that he was here he was in the very best of spirits."

"Is there any truth in the rumor that the President's private business affairs were seriously affected by the late financial crisis?"

"Not the slightest, and the statement that he came on here to untangle any of his complications in his private affairs is made out of whole cloth. The President is one of the most methodical and careful of men in his business, and as far as to his knowledge has never engaged in any speculation, except in the purchase of a man who was paid for the first of the month, it is because they have not sent in their bills. The story is absolutely untrue."

Mr. Benedict added that he understood that the private business which President Cleveland came here to attend to was finished last in the morning, and that he was returning to his home in the city.

He said that he had spent the day visiting some of his friends.

Mr. Benedict is 56 years of age. He is a native of New York, and was President of the Commercial Union Bank of New York, and was also President of the Commercial Union Bank of New York, and was also President of the Commercial Union Bank of New York.

BOMBS ALL AROUND.

Dastardly Attempt to Blow Up a French General's House.

Dynamite in Sentry Boxes and in a Passage-way.

Intended Victim the Commander of the Fifteenth Army Corps.

MAINTHELY, Nov. 10.—A dastardly attempt to blow up the residence of Gen. Mathieu, Commander of the Fifteenth Army Corps, was made at about midnight last night.

The house occupied by Gen. Mathieu is surrounded by a high wall into which sentry boxes are built.

In the small niches, or sentry boxes, a number of little cases of dynamite were placed, and in addition, one case of dynamite was placed in a room adjoining the apartments occupied by the general and used by the orderlies of the commander.

The dynamite placed in the sentry boxes exploded at about midnight, and a loud report, shattering the walls and hurling a mass of debris into the guard-depties or building any of the soldiers in the guard-room.

Every pane of glass in the general's house and in adjoining houses was smashed by the force of the concussion, and the girls' school and hotel buildings opposite Gen. Mathieu's residence were equally damaged.

A bomb was discovered later in one of the passages of the general's house, and it is believed that the conspirators were under the impression that the explosion of the first case of dynamite would be sufficient to explode the others found in the passage, as well as the cases of dynamite placed in the sentry boxes.

For several years no sentry boxes have been stationed about the residence of the general, owing to the state of quiet which has prevailed at Metz since the close of the force of the explosion, and of the remarkable escape of the orderlies and soldiers in the guard-room, to say nothing of the girls in the school opposite and of the officials, may be formed from the fact that a mile from the spot where it took place.

The Director of the Odet, or municipal tax headquarters, was lying in bed when the dynamite exploded and was awakened by the noise and by a shower of glass and plaster which fell upon him.

An Italian, who was sitting opposite the general's house last evening, has been arrested upon suspicion of being connected with the conspiracy.

There are people here, however, who believe that the explosion was the work of the most hot-headed of the horse-car strike agitators, who are known to have been feeling very bitter against the military authorities for the support which they gave the car Company during the recent strike, when the streets were patrolled by hundreds of infantry, and when each horse-car which the Company was enabled to run was escorted by from six to a dozen mounted hussars.

Sentries are now stationed around Gen. Mathieu's headquarters, and every person passing is being taken to guard public buildings, as the police are understood to be in possession of information which leads them to believe that further explosions may be attempted.

GREATEST REDUCTION IN MERCHANDISE EVER KNOWN.

WE MUST HAVE MONEY!

The lack of employment of the working classes, the unseasonable weather and the stringency in the money market have curtailed our business this season. We bought heavily, anticipating a good Fall business. The result: We are now overstocked with maturing obligations which must be met. To do this we shall inaugurate a sweeping reduction of our entire stock at a uniform discount of 50 per cent. on everything.

Herman Says He Was Assaulted by an Employee and Arrested.

Andrew Hartman, a saloon-keeper at 5 South street, through his attorney, John Callahan, today began suit for $10,000 damages against the Manhattan Elevated railway before Judge Gleason.

Hartman alleges that on the night of Sunday, Aug. 28, 1892, he and two friends were riding on the elevated railway, and that he was assaulted by an employee of the railway, who was named as John Callahan.

He asks $10,000 damages for the assault and $500 for false arrest, as he was taken to the police court on a charge of assault.

On the witness stand Hartman said that he had been drinking with two friends in a saloon on Sunday night, and that he had been drinking with them when he was assaulted by the employee of the railway.

He said that he was taken to the police court on a charge of assault, and that he was held in custody for several days.

He said that he was released from custody, but that he was still suffering from the effects of the assault.

He said that he was unable to work for several days, and that he was unable to pay his bills.

He said that he was unable to pay his bills, and that he was unable to pay his bills.
